

This proposal will contribute to the degradation of air service for business travelers.

Long distance travelers need the opportunity to work and to sleep. Pleasure travelers probably don't care about encouraging chat and buzz, but our economy and security depend on the serious frequent flyers.